IMPRISONMENT

The defendant is committed to the custody of the United States Bureau of Prisons to be imprisoned for a total term of 57 months.

The Court recommends that Immigration and Customs Enforcement begin removal proceedings during service of sentence.

Defendant Rosario Aguirre-Garcia's offense level is 27, and his criminal history is category I. His advisory guidelines sentence range is 70 to 87 months. The Court has considered the guideline range established for the applicable category of offense committed by the applicable category of defendant. The Court also taken into consideration other sentencing goals. Specifically, the Court has also considered the factors set forth in 18 U.S.C. § 3553(a)(1)-(7).

The Court has found that Aguirre-Garcia is eligible for the safety valve under 18 U.S.C. § 3553(f), and thus the Court has the power to impose a sentence "without regard to any statutory minimum sentence." Id. The Court believes that a sentence of 57 months reflects the seriousness of the offense that Aguirre-Garcia has committed and will promote respect for the law, provide just punishment, and afford adequate deterrence. While the sentence varies from the suggested range under the Sentencing Guidelines, it is a more reasonable sentence and more faithfully promotes the sentencing goals Congress laid down in 18 U.S.C. § 3553(a).

The Court does not believe that Aguirre-Garcia meets the Sentencing Guidelines` definition of a minor participant. See U.S.S.G. § 3B1.2. Nonetheless, Aguirre-Garcia`s role as a drug courier warrants some variance. Such individuals are often given lower sentences in this District and elsewhere along the border, and the Court believes that a sentence in line with what would be, under the Guidelines, an offense level of 25 is necessary to avoid producing unwarranted sentencing disparities. Aguirre-Garcia is thus more similarly situated to someone facing an advisory sentence of 57 to 71 months. A sentence of 57 months is appropriate.

A sentence within the guidelines range would be excessive here and would contravene Congress` command that courts impose sentences that are sufficient but not greater than is necessary to comply with the purposes of punishment set forth in the Sentencing Reform Act. The Court recognizes the seriousness of the offense Aguirre-Garcia committed, but believes that the sentence it imposes sufficiently takes that factor into account. A longer sentence would be unnecessarily punitive and would not serve any useful purpose. The sentence the Court imposes varies from the guidelines, but in these circumstances, such a sentence more effectively promotes the goals outlined in 18 U.S.C. § 3553(a).

X	The court makes these recommendations to the Bureau of Prisons:
	The Court first recommends Tucson Federal Correctional Institute, Tucson, Arizona, if eligible; and the Court secondarily recommends Safford Federal Correctional Institute, Safford, Arizona, if eligible.
×	The defendant is remanded to the custody of the United States Marshal.
	The defendant must surrender to the United States Marshal for this district:
	at on
	as notified by the United States Marshal.
	The defendant must surrender for service of sentence at the institution designated by the Bureau of Prisons:
	□ before 2 p.m. on
	as notified by the United States Marshal
	as notified by the Probation or Pretrial Service Office.
